INTRODUCTION

The 2008 Virginia Society Official Handbook represents yet another major revision and reorganization of the previous edition. All four volumes have been re-written to include new guidelines, procedures, committees, and policy. Significant changes have been made to both the Constitution and Bylaws.

Volume 1 contains the History & Constitution of the Virginia Society.

Volume 2 contains the Bylaws of the Virginia Society.

Volume 3 contains Duties of the Elected Officers, Procedures, and Committees for the Virginia Society.

Volume 4 contains information on procedures for Medals and Awards of the SAR at the Chapter, State and National levels.

The History of the Virginia Society will, of course, by its existence be added to from time to time. Changes to this section may appear without vote by the membership.

The Constitution and Bylaws are subject to change only as prescribed within those documents.

Procedures, Committees and the awarding of Medals, etc., are more likely to be the subject of modifications and are now set forth in separate volumes to provide ease in accommodation of such changes should they occur. Any such changes/modifications will be undertaken as prescribed within this Handbook.

Suggested changes/modifications to the Constitution and Bylaws should be submitted to the Secretary of the Virginia Society.

William L. Schwetke

The movement to organize the Virginia Society was started in the city of Washington in 1890. At a conference held in the nation's capital on February 10th, several Congressmen from Virginia constituted themselves as a committee to organize a Society in Virginia without delay.

On February 28th, the committee reassembled at the Capitol, adopted a constitution and bylaws and elected the following outstanding Virginians as officers:

Vice President General: William H. F. Lee,
A member of Congress from Burke's Station, Fairfax County, (son of Robert E. Lee)

Vice President: Colonel George Washington Ball of Alexandria

Lieutenant J. C. Cresap, USN, of Annapolis, Secretary-General of the National Society, and Professor G. Brown Goode, Ph.D., Registrar of the District of Columbia Society, formally chartered the Virginia Society at Richmond on July 7, 1890. There were 62 charter members.

Patty took the office of Secretary-Registrar in 1954 and served faithfully until he passed away in March 1967.

The annual commemoration of the Battle of Yorktown on October 19 has received major support from the Virginia Society. As part of this observation the Virginia Society annually sponsors a wreath laying ceremony at the grave of General Thomas Page Nelson, a signer of the Declaration of Independence. The Virginia Society is a member of the Yorktown Day Association.

The annual commemoration of the Battle of Point Pleasant (now in West Virginia) in early October was initiated by and receives major support from the Virginia Society. As a part of the Memorial Ceremony, the President of the Virginia Society and other State Society Presidents and SAR Chapter Presidents place memorial wreaths on the graves of the Virginia militiamen buried there.

In the spring of 1983, the Virginia Society commemorated the presence of Virginia patriots at Valley Forge by dedicating a monument at the Valley Forge National Park. The monument was made possible by gifts from many compatriots throughout the Virginia Society and by a bequest from the estate of a former member.

The Wilderness Road State Park and U.S. National Park cooperative venture received official status in the National Societies list of Historic Celebrations during the fall Trustees Meeting in 2004. The Virginia Society participates in the wreath laying event on the 2nd weekend of May each year which is hosted by the Martin's Station Chapter. The wreath laying commemorates the pioneers who traversed the Wilderness Road and those who manned and defended the outpost at Martin's Station. The outpost served as a beacon of light on the Wilderness Road as the pioneers journeyed through the Cumberland Gap.

The Virginia Society is composed of 28 active chapters throughout the commonwealth and an at-large chapter which serves compatriots who are members of the Virginia Society and generally reside beyond a chapter's or the state's borders.
